*Where the sons of Carolina taught a nation to be free,
And her daughters taught their brothers to be brave;
O'er a land of peaceful plenty, from the highlands
to the sea,
May thy banner, Alma Mater, ever wave.*

Dr. Carlyle Campbell

You are the embodiment of the ideals of the Meredith community.

In your life we have found a worthy example to follow. You embody the fine qualities of a father, not only for the Campbell family, but for the Meredith family as well. Your profound wisdom, command of language, and lively wit have made your chapel speeches and friendly conversations a vital part of our individual development. A true gentleman and scholar, you pursue knowledge and inspire in us a desire to know life.

You have made your position not only a professional one, but also a personal one. You and your wife have welcomed us into your home, thereby drawing us close to you. Your wholehearted participation in campus activities has made you in every respect the "leader of the angels."

The leader of the angels

Dr. Campbell is still as dear to those who graduated twenty-seven years ago, as he is to present graduates.

During your twenty-seven years of service to Meredith, the school has experienced a new growth and development. Many facilities that were only dreams are now realities as a result of your devotion. Because of your diligence in seeking the best for Meredith, the Carlyle Campbell Library will be a monument to your outstanding scholarship and service.

In addition to your leadership at Meredith, your influence has reached across North Carolina and the South. As a member of various commissions, you have demonstrated your vital concern for the advancement of higher education. Your positions of authority have given you deep insight into all aspects of education, thus enriching your accomplishments as president of Meredith.

Your civic and academic involvement has preserved our sense of belonging to the larger community, as well as to the campus. At the same time your genuine love of learning has focused our attention on the primary objectives of Meredith College. Your retirement seems unreal to us, so intimately have we come to associate you with the life of the college.

To you we dedicate the 1966 OAK LEAVES—Dr. Carlyle Campbell.

Receptions, an opportunity for friendly conversation over a cup of tea . . .

Art

"Art is a human activity having for its purpose the transmission to others of the highest and best feelings to which men have risen."

TOLSTOI

The mystical loneliness of Autumn . . . a tutor kneeling to button the tattered coat of a small child . . . the beauty of a timeless song . . . an oak leaf symbolizing strength and wisdom . . . a book brimming with knowledge to be acquired . . . a discussion inspiring citizenship . . . a freshman plodding through the maze of endless days of orientation . . . a sunrise service commemorating the rebirth of life . . . a reception to form new friendships . . . a senior rehearsal leading to the beginning of a new life . . . a meditative student formulating new ideas about life . . . concerts broadening our appreciation . . . a splash of color from the student's brush.

Putting the finishing touches on a painting masterpiece . . .

The songs we sing put joy into our hearts.

Guest speakers, such as Lieutenant Governor Bob Scott, have helped to sharpen our awareness of the world.

Dr. Pratt's lecture-recitals provided both stimulation and entertainment.

Shadow

"Sometimes I think the things we see are shadows of the things to be."

PHOEBE CARY

Silhouettes . . . reveries of things that were and are to be . . . recollections of our years at Meredith . . .
mountains of books for termpapers . . . lights in the room before dawn . . . umbrellas lining the hallways
. . . white church steeples rising above the Raleigh skyline . . . Christmas trees decking the campus . . .
the fountain at twilight . . . green trees mirrored on a glassy lake . . . a letter in the post office . . . a boy and girl saying good night . . . a light in the phone booth at midnight . . . a cap and gown waiting for June . . . and tomorrow, a woman in a new world.

An open Bible, the key to our Christian heritage . . .

A Thanksgiving meditation by Dr. Campbell . . .

Required chapel is a worship experience inspiring spiritual growth.

Divine

*Nothing in the world is single
All things by a law divine
In one spirit meet and mingle.*

SHELLEY

Solemn thoughts while walking by the lake . . . religion classes which challenge us to see ourselves . . . outstanding chapel speakers from all over the world . . . seminars in which we discuss problems which are of special significance to us . . . Religious Emphasis Week when our minds are enriched by the thoughts of others . . . meditations in our new chapel . . . retreats . . . friendly interest shown by members of the Raleigh churches . . . sunrise services . . . discussions with faculty members who help us to understand . . . an awareness of the needs of others and our need for association with them . . . togetherness.

A quiet moment in the chapel built by Meredith students . . .

Church means a great deal to most Meredith girls, although church attendance is no longer required.

Kappa Nu Sigma represents the highest academic achievement at Meredith.

The library is the heart of the academic community.

Faculty members show a willingness to guide students to greater truth.

Perfection

"It is through Art and through Art only that we can realize our perfection."

—OSCAR WILDE

The pursuit of excellence . . . a feeling of accomplishment in a job well-done . . . knowing the answers on an exam . . . Kappa Nu Sigma . . . winning an election . . . Who's Who . . . a professor's words of encouragement . . . Dean's List . . . a feeling of oneness with a special friend . . . an A.B. degree . . . a chance for graduate school . . . recognition for service . . . Silver Shield . . . an opportunity to mature . . . a vocation . . . the pride of Mother and Dad . . . making someone happy . . . study, hard work, laughter, tears . . . and finally, the world at our fingertips.

Perfection?!

Class Day—1965

"The final test of a leader is that he leaves behind him in other men the conviction and the will to carry on."

WALTER LIPPMANN

A more than competent administration and faculty . . . dedication to the needs of students . . . participation in activities outside as well as within the Meredith community . . . recognized leaders throughout the state . . . talks with students in the Bee Hive . . . stimulating class lectures . . . papers to grade . . . trying to make all new students feel they belong . . . the cast of the unforgettable Alice In Wonderland . . . participants in Corn Huskin' and Play Day . . . organizing and coordinating activities . . . terrific sports at the Faculty Auction . . . faculty advisors who endear themselves to students . . . encouragement for us to succeed when we have ended our college life . . . individuals never to be forgotten.

AGNES BICKFORD COOPER (1903-1964)
Director of the Meredith News Bureau

During twenty years of capable, devoted service to Meredith, her keen perception, her radiant cheerfulness—qualities enriched by the depth of her Christian faith—made to the life of the College a contribution of great value.

President

As a help in understanding the present and as guidance for the future, any record of the past should be both pleasurable and valuable. In this context, were we wiser, we might regard some failures and disappointments as of more importance than what we immediately considered achievements. May this edition of the OAK LEAVES, recording some outstanding activities and experiences of the year 1965-66 at Meredith, serve you well, as mature reflection would direct. Your Alma Mater will continue to feel a keen interest in everything that concerns you.

Art

Grove Robinson, Diana Harmon, Leonard White

Romantic or Baroque? Student notebooks filled with indistinguishable reproductions. . . . Long hours in the lab. . . . "It's not finished." . . . Constructive criticism and unceasing encouragement. . . . Headaches, pressures, and rewards for that final exhibit.

Biology

Georgette Campbell, John Yarbrough, James Eads

Frogs and crayfish and formaldehyde. . . . Running to the lab for that last look at the exhibits. . . . Mr. E's magic watch. . . . Long hours of study for those terrible exams. . . . Field trips, bugs, and unidentifiable leaves. . . . The Scopes case and the left-over bone. . . . An awareness and wonder at the world around us.

Business and Economics

Anne Parnell, Lois Frazier, Evelyn Simmons

Frequent field trips . . . "But I can't transcribe my notes!" . . . Will the U. S. enter the Common Market?!! . . . patience with the machines . . . a term paper and two book reviews is a must for all economics courses . . . the Christmas mailing list prepared by the business students is a help to all.

Chemistry and Physics

Helen Jo Collins, Mary Yarbrough, Sally Horner

Unbalanceable equations. . . . White lab jackets across campus. . . . The undefinable law of gravity? . . . A feeling of discovery. . . . Nitric acid and burned fingers. . . . Smoke from the lab. . . . Endless experimentation. . . . Why? . . . Tomorrow's scientists.

Education

Robert G. Fracker, Lila Bell, David R. Reveley, Harry K. Dorsett (not pictured)

An avid interest in each of us. . . . Helping us to find our philosophy. . . . The normal curve of distribution. . . . Stimulating class discussions. . . . Butterflies and hard work and the satisfactions of student teaching. . . . The anxiety in "waiting to hear". . . . We want you to be professionals.

English

Ione K. Knight, Ruth Ann Baker, Norma Rose, Mary Lynch Johnson, Elizabeth Chamberlain, Carolyn Poole, Mamie Hafner

The frustrations of those first themes. . . . "I'll never find time." . . . But you do. . . . Stimulating ideas and unconscious growth. . . . Bacon's essays and Othello's flaw. . . . And all those lines to say. . . . Diagrams and conferences and a genuine concern for each of us. . . . Instilling in us a respect for Meredith tradition and a precept for life. . . . Act well your part.

Foreign Language

Finding out about our neighbors. . . . Vocabulary and vocabulary. . . . "Repeat." . . . Singing carols in Spanish, French, German, and Latin. . . . Caesar, Faust, and Cervantes. . . . And "it's all Greek to me. . . ." . . . Preparing for better relations in a world growing closer together.

History and Political Science

Carolyn B. Grubbs, Sarah M. Lemmon, Rosalie Gates, Frank L. Grubbs, Carolyn Happer, Thomas C. Parramore

Pages and pages of notes. . . . "Could you please slow down?" . . . Informal and stimulating discussions. . . . The Treaty of Versailles. . . . A department full of majors. . . . Yearly term papers. . . . Dr. P's steam engine. . . . A concern for student awareness. . . . Always available and always interested. . . . Making history come alive for us.

Home Economics

Maryllyn M. Stuber, Ellen Brewer

Long hours preparing for the Christmas exhibit . . . "Oh, girls, that would be a happy choice" . . . getting up early in the Home Management House . . . "Don't ever stitch over a pin" . . . delightful aromas radiating from the kitchen.

Mathematics

Dorothy K. Preston, Geneva L. Martin, Sanborn Chesley, James A. Stephens

"Only twenty-five word problems for homework?" . . . Protractor, rulers, tables, and chalk dust. . . "Erase! . . . But I haven't finished!" . . . Pop quizzes—you must keep up. . . Sudden insight and the satisfaction of mastering that problem. . . The new math brings its own problems. . . Welcoming our two new teachers.

Versatility and strong individuality . . . endless hours of practice . . . preparation for senior recitals . . . satisfaction in a job well done . . . a mixture of piano, organ, and vocal sounds emitting from Jones Auditorium . . . a separate table at registration.

Music

Seated: Harry E. Cooper. Standing: Beatrice Donley, Edwin K. Beachard, James L. Clyburn, Stuart Pratt, Phyllis W. Garriss, Karen Young, Isabelle Haeseler.

Freshmen learn in health how to care for those sore muscles from P. E. . . . Golf games on Poteat green. . . . Graceful? dancers. . . . "I can't find my arrows." . . . Lovely nails left in bowling balls. . . . "I missed the bus." . . . May Day impresses the newcomers. . . . Keeping us in shape.

Psychology and Philosophy

Ethel Tilley

An introduction to ourselves. . . . Anxieties about anxieties. . . . Dr. Tilley's class recitals. . . . The miracle of mind. . . . Hours of lab and research. . . . Heredity and environment. . . . A better understanding of ourselves and others.

Religion

Roger Cook, Ralph E. McLain, Henry Coffer, Bernard Cochran

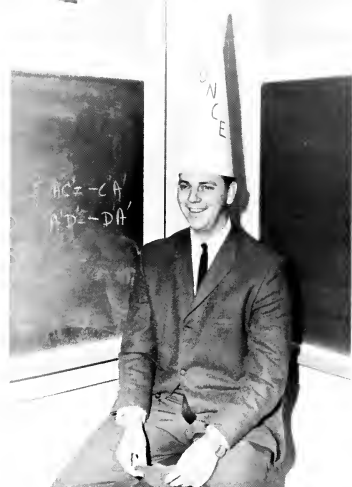

"And I thought I knew something about the Bible." . . . Eight page, one hour quizzes. . . . An insight into our Christian heritage. . . . Making us think. . . . Hundreds of books to read and papers and papers. . . . Meaningful and helpful consultations. . . . Helping us to find our direction.

Coke time in Hunter Hall . . .

A teacher must put himself on a level with his students?!

The Thinker . . .

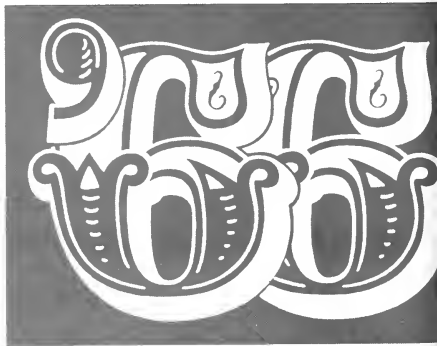

Our illustrious faculty . . .

"We cannot tell the precise moment when friendship is formed. As in filling a vessel drop by drop, there is at last a drop which makes it run over; so in a series of kindnesses there is at last one which makes the heart run over."

JAMES BOSWELL

Friendships never to be forgotten . . . companionship . . . hall parties . . . meeting new competition . . . . . Christmas caroling . . . class meetings . . . congregations in the rooms with the T.V.'s . . . clean rooms? . . . playing bridge between classes . . . studying for tests . . . freshman termpapers . . . arranging rooms . . . conversations while soaking up the sun . . . planning what to do after graduation . . . someone to talk to about our problems . . . learning new interests from new friends . . . those every day kindnesses which we will never forget.

The art of

We return to school in the midst of a September heat wave . . . exclamations at the incredibility of being SENIORS resound in the halls of Poterat . . . registration reminds us of the miles we have traveled and the distance which remains . . . we slip easily into the routine of daily classes . . . more enthusiastic because we know the end is near . . . more determined because we know that this is our last opportunity to improve ourselves through formal education . . . we accept the responsibilities of seniority with anticipation, eager to give to Meredith something of what she has given us . . . senior privileges bring the long hikes to the parking lot and the terrible indecision of whether or not to cut that 8:30 class . . . living in modern luxury . . . cold baths . . . parking tickets . . . and all those free but unused week ends . . . the year is filled with victories . . . the senior angels return from abroad bringing home the Cornhuskin' cup . . . we stretch our imaginations and the red tights for a winning Stunt . . . as classmates and sisters we compete in society rush, happy that the freshmen are sisters of Meredith first . . . and the last victory, graduation, brings with it feelings of satisfaction, relief, sadness, and gratitude . . . as SENIORS we become more aware each day that it is a time for last things . . . the last summer of irresponsibility . . . the last registration . . . the last Cornhuskin' and Stunt . . . the last Christmas party . . . the last required concert . . . the last exam week . . . the last term paper . . . and for some of us, the last experience of group living . . . we become more aware each day that it is a time for first things . . . the freedom and responsibilities of self-support . . . the first important job application . . . the first realization that the decision is ours alone . . . planning weddings and taking graduate exams . . . June arrives before we know it and with it comes graduation and good-bye . . . we pack our bags, each of us promising to keep in touch . . . take a last lingering look at the campus which has become more beautiful and more dear to us in its four years as our home . . . and drive away . . . we go our separate ways, but the common feelings of tenderness for the past, courage for the present, and hope for the future make fast the ties and the Class of '66 remains united in spirit.

Surprising, isn't it? Yes, Winnie explains to Barbara, it is possible to graduate from Meredith in four years. Julia, looking on, seems not so sure.

Christmas caroling anyone? Student teachers who spend long days with elementary pupils find the pressure too great, and suddenly revert to their childhood days.

Seniors pause between studies for refreshments. Thank goodness for birthday parties.

"You laugh, Rose Ann," says Kathy Jo, "I've got TWO quizzes tomorrow."

Julia will really be horney tonight!!

Martha Ann, don't taste it. It's terrible!

De-e-early beloved . . .

Cheap skates! They only bought cup cakes.

Mole's traditional red slips at Christmas.

Hey, Look us over, SOPHOMORES this year! . . . three short months and we're "home" again . . . our place as "Novice Angels" turned over to a bunch of somewhat bewildered and strange faces . . . color them scared . . . You mean WE looked like that? . . . Memories, memories—lots of new things to get used to . . . titles of Counselor and Guide . . . new places to live . . . four privileges a week . . . phone calls during study hours . . . old things remind us that we're back in the Meredith groove . . . studying for instance! Sophomore year will be easier, huh? . . . Famous first lines—"Whan that Aprile . . ." . . . Phone duty and hall meetings . . . Flying trips to Ridgewood . . . Serving Cornhuskin' guests live breakfast cereals . . . Lucky Charms, Grape Nuts and Crispy Critters cooked up by Lynn Dodge and crew . . . Freshmen get the blind dates . . . Call us Undesirable . . . Can't beat our Steadies and Pin-mates . . . wishes for two-day week and five-day week end . . . Beauregard and Zombies have last laugh on Yankees . . . Patsy Burks leads Stunt as South rises again . . . Shan Pruitt and Barbara Mabe are our Spring beauties of May Court . . . Serenading the Queen, our pleasure . . . Spring flowers come . . . end of school not far behind . . . Transfer? Maybe so, maybe not . . . Times are happy, times are sad . . . gathering daisies to honor our Big Sisters . . . Reluctant goodbyes to Meredith's best friend—Dr. Campbell . . . A pause for reflection . . . Time is fleeting . . . college career half gone . . . no knowledge of what new year will bring . . . but we are hopeful . . . eager . . . ready to assume our place . . . we make pleasing ripples on quiet water . . . We are SOPHOMORES.

"Rub-a-dub-dub . . ." Hey, one of you guys get out.

This is the Sophomore Slump!

We had unusual guests this weekend.

Measurements aren't every thing!!

FRESHMAN . . . Class of '69 . . . a confused arrival . . . new faces . . . new personalities . . . orientation begins . . . or was it an attempt to exhaust us? . . . our first college week end . . . blind dates . . . we find out about fraternities . . . our first college classes begin . . . we settle down to a steady stream of assignments . . . nights in the library . . . it just is not possible to do all these things . . . but somehow we do them . . . discovering that we, too, can be a part of the college community . . . we go home for our first open week end . . . but is it still home? . . . the days hurry . . . the days lag . . . Corn Huskin' bursts onto the scene . . . the post-war babies tie for third place . . . flashlights under the cover after lights out . . . mid-semester grades are turned in . . . resolutions to improve by January . . . marking the time until Thanksgiving—hoping to catch up, but failing to do so . . . on the heels of our rest, Stunt . . . flappers convert the Temperance Union . . . Christmas vacation slips up on us . . . hall parties and caroling put us in a festive spirit . . . we return, rested and dreading exams . . . they come, at last . . . it's all over now . . . we take a break and begin all over again . . . Phis and Astros compete for our pledge . . . is the work easier, or have we at last learned the secret of studying . . . in the spring we take to the sun deck . . . Easter scatters us—some to New York, some to Washington, others on the beaches . . . our second semester draws to an end . . . no longer green, we look back to see how we have changed . . . remembering always “how fine is the Class of '69.”

Excitement prevails in the hall parlors during the parties celebrating Christmas and the long-awaited vacation.

Nightly antics soon become a necessary part of the daily routine.

Freshmen exhibit the Christmas spirit by varied and original door decorations.

That advice from a suitemate may prove helpful tonight, who knows?

Sarah Pearce demonstrates the Greensboro strut at an informal hall gathering.

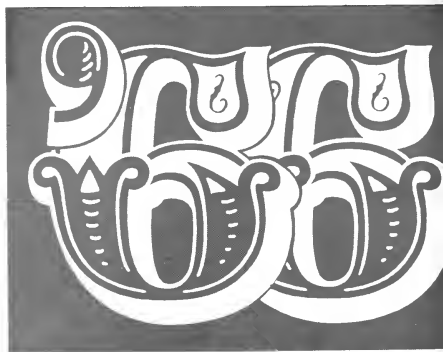

A roommate slyly captures an embarrassing moment of intended repose.

*"All service ranks the same with God:
With God whose puppets, best and worst,
Are we; there is no last or first."*

ROBERT BROWNING

The Meredith College world . . . the world outside . . . we are a part of both . . . we make our mark on both . . . we take our place in both . . . as Christians, we are concerned for both . . . we see a chance to grow through service . . . to help others grow . . . enforcing our Honor Code . . . supporting our elected officers . . . organizing new projects . . . reworking regulations . . . upholding the Meredith tradition . . . tutoring a disadvantaged child . . . reading to the blind . . . attending meetings to strengthen clubs and organizations . . . volunteering to serve on a committee . . . raising money for the library fund . . . helping to orient new students to college life . . . being a good leader . . . and a good follower . . . willingness to do more than is expected . . . realization that what we do counts . . . through service at Meredith and guidance from God, we go into the world to serve our fellowman.

Anita Hauser, President

STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION . . . a year of variety . . . a hard-working crew . . . an evening in a self defense course . . . three boards—the Legislative, Judicial, and Student Activities—working harmoniously . . . course evaluation . . . discussion groups late at night . . . family living seminars . . . a chance to display responsibility, leadership, and maturity . . . recipient of protests, complaints, and gripes . . . Janus, the mediator between the past and future . . . an essential part of Meredith life . . . dedicated servant . . . all striving to make Meredith an ideal community.

The Legislative Board holds regular weekly meetings to consider changes that will clarify, simplify, or improve existing regulations, policies, and the Student Government Constitution. Sub-committees are formed to draw up recommendations that come back to the Board for discussion, possible revision, and final approval. Recommendations are often devised as a result of ideas and suggestions that come from hall buzz sessions or "open" Board meetings. Representing every hall on campus, the Legislative Board becomes aware of student body concerns and works through committees to make constructive improvements not only by legislating, but also by organizing such projects as a Course-evaluation Program, an Inter-collegiate Exchange Program, and a Self-defense Course.

Marion Bunch, Chairman

Bonnie Eicher, Chairman

Judicial Board

"Judy Board" . . . Monday night meetings in first Vann . . . sixteen members representing all four classes . . . understanding faculty advisors . . . those late, late hours . . . administrators of justice . . . appreciation of straight-forwardness and truthful testimony . . . careful consideration of each case . . . those beloved pink slips and parking tickets . . . democratic procedures . . . constant striving to uphold the Honor Code.

Student Activities Board

The Student Activities Board, which is composed of representatives from each class, is concerned with promoting social activities for the students, faculty, and administration. Also included in its major concerns are developing cultural interests and educating the student body in standards of social behavior. This year the board has presented worthwhile chapel programs, provided music for the dining hall, and introduced and entertained the new members of the faculty. Two of the year's projects were to salute members of the student body, faculty, and administration for outstanding contributions and to sponsor with the M.C.A. a series of seminars entitled "Marriage and Family Living."

Anne Sparger, Chairman

Kneeling: Nutt, Griffin, Hauser, Sparger, Hilton, Barrier, Maynard. Second row: Webb, Miss Fleming, Woodruff, Carpenter, Eicher, Miss Rose. Third row: Hamrick, Knight, Cockerham, Welsted, Canady, Noffsinger, Bunch, Flynt, Thompson, Waller, Mr. Cochran.

Martha Mills, Chairman

Nominating Committee

Spring brings campus elections . . . and long meetings for the Nominating Committee. Leaders of all the major campus organizations and class representatives deliberate many hours over the best candidates for next year's positions. Straw ballots reflect student body preferences, but the final choice is shown on voting days.

The counselors are a group of Sophomore, Junior, and Senior girls who serve as student advisors for Freshmen and transfer students. Once a month, these girls meet either in small individual groups or in an assembly of all groups for programs and discussions of interest. Each group has a faculty advisor who advises each girl until the time her major is declared.

Joyce Canady, Chairman

Student Government Counselors

Kneeling: Evans, Warwick, Pulliam, Hill, Pritchard, Jernigan, Dahl. Second row: Thompson, Hall, Stone, Alexander, Sutton, Tart. Third row: B. Smith, Sink, Flood, Sned, Cress, Klein, Mabe, Jenkins, Miss Peak.

Meredith Christian Association

M.C.A.—Meredith Christian Association provides both the means of understanding the truths of God in Christ and the opportunities for expressing them by creative service—strengthening, correlating, and unifying all the separate religious denominations into one campus fellowship with an all-inclusive program of religious activities. Features of the organization include daily vesper service which aims at devotional growth, and a series of forums which stimulate intellectual understanding. The M.C.A. also sponsors reading and visitation programs at the State School for the Blind at the Dorothea Dix Hospital and the Raleigh Rescue Mission.

The M.C.A., which has an executive committee made up of representatives from all denominations on campus, encourages each girl to become acquainted with the Raleigh churches and to become active in campus religious life.

Sandra Flynt, President

Baptist Student Union

A community within our Meredith community serving Baptist students who seek a closer bond of fellowship within their own denomination—The Meredith College Baptist Student Union strives to preserve ties established in the home church and reinterpret them toward the college community and local church, bringing about a fulfillment through dialogue, service, and worship. B.S.U., the largest denominational organization on campus draws its leadership from an executive council, directors, and pastor and faculty advisors. Membership is open to the entire student body with an endeavor through the forums and activities of the organization to increase the students' awareness of the vital conflicts and concerns in confronting modern life.

Meredith Recr

Judy Hamrick, President

M. R. A. The purpose of the Recreation Association is to develop a sound body, along with a sound mind, and to promote health, happiness, and a spirit of fair play. The M. R. A. provides activities through a variety of phases: fellowship at the Orientation picnic, apple bobbing at Corn Huskn', painting scenery for Stunt, singing for the faculty at Christmas, practicing foul shots for basketball, and challenging a faculty member to a game of bridge at Play Day. Through individual activities, team sports, and class participation, the Meredith Recreation Association offers opportunities for everyone.

Day Students

A party in the hut gives the day students a chance to get together for fun and relaxation.

Home again, home again. . . .

A between class chat in the day students' room.

Galloping through Meredith woods . . .

Skating — anyone?

Say "Cheese"!

Tension mounts in the foyer of Jones' Auditorium on Decision Day.

Faculty and students rival each other in Corn Huskin' activities.

The teas sponsored by the Nominating Committee give the student body a chance to meet the candidates running for school offices.

AUTOGRAPHS

*Where the sons of Carolina taught a nation to be free,
And her daughters taught their brothers to be brave;
O'er a land of peaceful plenty, from the highlands
to the sea,
May thy banner, Alma Mater, ever wave.*
